Thames International College

Thames is more than just a place where you come to study for your degree. It is a community of students and faculty from diverse backgrounds coming together with a common belief that learning is a lifelong process. On one hand, you will always find yourself being pushed to take responsibility of your own learning while on the other hand you will be encouraged to question, challenge and critically reflect both in and outside the classroom.

Through our integrated liberal arts programs you will have many opportunities to learn about the wider world, while you continue to develop the expertise in the area of your own interest. You will be offered community service opportunities to develop understanding of the contemporary social issues both at global and local level.

I look forward to working together with you as we strive to raise the benchmark of higher education in Nepal.

Santosh Raj Pathak

Partnership Contract
Officer, ICIMOD

While I studied for my Bachelor's degree, I also grew up to become a young professional with confidence, perseverance and endurance.

Dharma Raj Ghimire

General Secretary and Program Coordinator, YUWA

I was met with energy and enthusiasm at Thames from day one and was exposed to a world of opportunities. I grew up as an individual and learnt to interact with people from different backgrounds. Strong academic programs, non-credit courses, readily accessible faculty, and a variety of student resources created an excellent learning environment for me to gain practical skills and most importantly, confidence with leadership quality in the workplace. My journey as a social work student at Thames helped me to become the youth activist I am today.

Subin Limbu

Miss Nepal, 2014

I am extremely happy to have been a part of the Thames Family. Life at Thames was always about self-discipline, growth and fun. Precious were those days.

Priyanka Upreti

Thames Alumna
Studying MBA at Webster
University

It gives me great pleasure to say with pride that I am an alumna of Thames International College. The four years spent at Thames were splendid and helped me to grow professionally and personally. Being a student of Thames provided me the opportunity to pursue my Masters in the United States through its agreement with US-based Webster University. The Thames emphasis in co-curricular and extracurricular activities, and learning through experiences made me confident to perform and execute challenging tasks in my U.S. MBA program. Student centered education at Thames makes it the best.

Kartika Yadav

Planning Officer,
National Planning
Commission, Government of Nepal

I think the best part of Thames is that creativity and endeavour are valued immensely here. The teachers and the management provide a conducive environment for one to grow, and explore their flair for greatness.

I attained a Humanities degree, and got the incredible opportunity of working here for a little more than a year after my graduation, and then joined the civil service. The experience at Thames has helped me recognize how it has essentially led to my becoming a professional working woman, with the confidence to bear responsibilities.

I've learnt that if you have lofty ambitions to do good, you can trust in Thames. Because it trusts in you.

Sudip Bikram Karki

Environment at Thames encourages creativity among its students and faculty. This is one institution in Nepal where you can explore, learn and grow at the same time.

Pratima Sherpa

National Golf Player

Thames International College has provided me the opportunity to pursue my passion in golf along with continuation of my studies in Business. It has further encouraged me to do better in both these areas with generous scholarship. I am so grateful to Thames that no matter how much I thank the College, it is always less.

Juliya Shrestha

Masters in International
Relation, La Trobe University,
Melbourne, Australia
Intern, Oxfam Australia

Thames has been an exceptional experience for me. The Social Work Program was amazing- an incredible educational journey, and a journey of self-discovery. I loved the individualized attention I received throughout the program. There was always a sense of trust and openness and as a student I always felt encouraged to share my thoughts and opinions; all the lecturers were inspiring and helpful. While in college, the opportunities are never ending. With an active student community there is always some type of event, fundraiser or chance for advocacy-thanks to our many connections with the community of Thames.

I completed my first year of Master of International Relation from Virginia International University, USA and the final year from La Trobe University, Melbourne. Recently I am doing my final placement with Oxfam Australia. Thanks to Thames, I feel well prepared to not only accelerate in my master's degree program but in my future career as a social worker. I'm forever appreciative to Thames for all their support. I could not be happier in the decision that I made to attend such a remarkable institution and become a part of the Thames Social Work Family.
